New Town Hall Now Is Almost Completed

REPORT PRESENTED ON WATER WORKS, SHOWS ECONOMY IN COST TO DATE

Minutes of a Regular Meeting of the Wainwright Town Council held last week.

Members present: Mayor Forester and Councillors: Clifton, Huntington, Pettie, Robinson, Tord and Welch.

Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and on motion adopted.

Communication from the W. Ross Alger Corporation Ltd. relative to the sale of bonds to be issued for the building of town hall and water works construction.

Moved by Coun. Welch—that the Secretary advise the W. Ross Alger Corporation that we are not placing the town debentures on the market at the present time—Carried.

A communication from the Secretary of the B.P.O.E. Lodge No. 22, granting leave for the use of their Club Room for holding the annual ratemakers meeting on the evening of January 31st.

Moved by Coun. Clifton—that the communication be received and acknowledged with thanks—Carried.

Communication from Macdonald and Macdonald architects relating to the finishing hardware for the town hall recommending that the tender submitted by the Somerville Hardware Ltd. be incorporated in the building.

Moved by Coun. Robinson—that a tender from the Somerville Hardware Co. to supply the hardware for the town hall be accepted as recommended by the architect—Carried.

Communication from the architect to the Mayor in relation to some points raised at the time of recent inspection was ordered filed.

A report from Mr. D. Donaldson, electrical inspector, attaching a list of places with approved wiring to date of December 21st 1929.

Moved by Coun. Huntington—that the report of the electrical inspector respecting outlets and fittings in new buildings in town be accepted and that the Secretary Treasurer use same as basis for charges for work of inspection and approval of electrical work in such buildings—Carried.

The financial statement as prepared by the auditors Messrs Patinkin & Johnston, for the year ending December 31st 1929, was submitted to Council.

Moved by Coun. Welch—that the auditor's report as presented be accepted and copy be forwarded to Wainwright Star for publication as set forth under the terms of the Town Act—Carried.

A report of the waterworks progress to January 17 was presented by Coun. Tord as follows:

Overtime 33 men one hour each at 40c per hour 13.20
Cost of gas for thawing to date 54.00

Actual cost of completed work including thawing 79c per ft.
Cost of preliminary work 1c per ft.

Total cost of completed work to date 80c per ft.
First three days do not show to advantage as it took this time to train men and to get a proper organization formed.

The block from Second to Third Avenues gave some trouble on account of water which would have been more troublesome had the work been delayed until summer conditions.

The first week of work completed one block. The second week completed two and one-half blocks.

The cost of thawing amounts to approximately six cents per foot and this we feel is offset by making ditching work much better than even summer work as the heat from the firing softens the ground to a greater extent.

For comparison in costs we refer you to the report presented by Mr. A. W. Haddow, city engineer of Edmonton, which shows as follows:

Cost of completing 8-inch main under summer conditions 86c
From allowance of four feet, winter conditions 25c

Making a total cost Winter work in Edmonton $1.11

Our actual cost covering this work .80
Showing a saving in our work by comparison .31c

We feel that favorable progress has been made in carrying on the work and with reasonable weather conditions that the cost can even be reduced to some extent on the balance of the work to be finished.

Moved by Coun. Clifton—that the report of the Fire, Water and Light committee concerning construction work as outlined and specified by Coun. Tord be adopted.

After considerable discussion by all members in regard to the progress made and cost thereof the work was authorized to proceed under the same circumstances as set forth in the progress report.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

Bud Mabey who has been working in the Turner Valley is home.

ONALTA IS STILL PUSHING OPERATIONS

(By W. A. Knowles)

Onalta is making excellent headway and now registers a depth of 1692 feet, with structural conditions very interesting. Although gas has been shown since the 1200 foot depth was reached this has been present in distinct quantity recently and is increasing as the bit goes down. In fact it has been necessary to extinguish the semi-open fires that were used on the derrick floor for heating purposes, being replaced for safety purposes, by steam pipes, as it was found that the gas content has become increased on several occasions and was extinguished without delay. The expectation is that a production sand may be encountered within the next three weeks, barring unavoidable delays. It is understood that a second well will immediately follow Onalta's No. 1.

Fabian Pete To Start No. 3

R. E. Williams reports that he expects to arrive in the field some time in March with a rotary equipment to be placed to work on his No. 3 location where a derrick is already in place and intimates that at least two wells will be put down by February during the coming summer.

Ambitious Program For Toronto Co.

Toronto which will operate on Dome heights, having taken over this property, intend to inaugurate an ambitious program as soon as weather conditions permit in the spring. The head office of this firm which is in Port Frances Ont., with American affiliations, intimate a large scale of development, with a probability of several wells this year.

AVOID DANGER OF BEING GASED

This prolonged spell of cold weather has caused to be formed on top of all chimneys where gas is being used as a fuel a rim of frost which during a mild spell forms ice, and eventually falls down the chimney together with pieces of mortar, sand and other debris. This has a tendency to plug up the chimney and prevent the gas fumes from the stove escaping and forcing them into the rooms with the resulting inconvenience and danger to the occupants. All residents now that the weather is milder should see that their chimneys are free of frost and other accumulations in order to prevent any fatalities from gas.

Mr. G. L. Hudson took a run up from Calgary over the week end.

GREAT WAR VETERAN PASSES TO BEYOND

FRANK GLENN MEMBER OF 151st WAINWRIGHT DETACHMENT DIES SUDDENLY

On Saturday last another of our local veterans, Mr. Frank Glenn was laid to rest.

The deceased having suffered for years from a weakened heart as the result of his services overseas, passed away suddenly at his farm home some seven miles north of town early on Thursday morning at the age of 59 years.

He was born in Goderich, Ont., where in 1900 he married Miss Ida Jane Westbrook. Some seven years later, the family came west, and in 1915 settled in Wainwright.

In 1915, the deceased enlisted with the Wainwright detachment of the 151st battalion, being later transferred into the 16th Canadian Scottish regiment. He served until the Armistice, when he returned to his family here on the farm.

There are left to mourn his widow and three sons—George, Allan and Len—another son having pre-deceased him. A brother Mr. A. V. Glenn, at Penitence, is THE FUNERAL.

The funeral cortege left McLeod's parlors at 2 p.m. and the body was borne into the United Church where a double rank of his old comrades in arms, the pallbearers being Messrs J. Clough, G. Grogan, W. McKay, F. Seabrook, H. Summers and H. Wilson.

The caasket, draped with the flag and bearing wreaths and crosses of the poppies of sacrifice as well as other beautiful floral offerings rested there amongst 'worrying' relatives and his old comrades. A very beautiful and impressive service followed.

An ex-soldier, the Rev. N. Whitmore, pastor of the church.

At the graveside the few and simple words of the interment were followed by the haunting notes of the "Last Post" sounded by Comrade F. Stott and then as his comrades filed past his grave each one dropped on the coffin the poppy he had worn that day, and with a low "goodbye comrade" passed on.

The blood-red flowers fluttered down on the quiet flag-draped coffin and a gap in the ranks of that great army that is waiting somewhere closed again.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Ida Glenn and Family wish to thank their many friends for kindness and sympathy shown them in their recent sad bereavement; and also to the Wainwright members of the Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. for their kindly attentions and sympathies.

REBEKAH MEMBERS HOLD CARD PARTY

A PLEASANT TIME WAS SPENT; ONLY SMALL CROWD WAS PRESENT

Owing possibly to the several other attractions of the same evening the winter drive which was staged by the members of Adelaide Rebekah lodge on Friday evening last was not as well attended as had been hoped for, but the crowd who were present were a real good time, and a splendid supper at the close of play added to the attraction.

PNEUMONIA CAUSE OF ANOTHER DEATH

JOHN (SCOTTY) SUTHERLAND PASSES AWAY FRIDAY LAST AT HOSPITAL

The grim reaper Death, which has certainly been busy in our community during the past week or two again passed over on Friday last, and snuffed out the life of one of our local men in the person of J. S. (Scotty) Sutherland, the cause of death being pneumonia.

Deceased, who has been in indifferent health for quite some time, was taken to the hospital only some ten or twelve days ago when he was discovered racked with pain in his back home on Seventh Avenue by members of the Oddfellow order of which he was a faithful and arduous worker.

Everything possible was done for him that medical skill could devise and he was placed under the care of a special nurse, but the ravages of the disease had been too heady and although at one time it was considered that he held a fighting chance, death came as stated above.

Mr. Sutherland was in his 38th year and came to Canada from his home at Skinnert, Talmine, Scotland, in 1915. He was first in the employ of Mr. H. Dowling after which he was on the National park staff under Mr. L. Davidson. Later he joined the C.N. employees at this point and has continued steadily with that force until his demise.

As far as can be learned he leaves to mourn his loss his mother in the old home in Scotland and one brother somewhere in Canada. Under instructions from Sgt. Stewart and Coroner Dr. Wallace, Mr. Davidson is taking charge of the effects of the deceased until otherwise arranged.

THE FUNERAL

The funeral on Sunday afternoon was conducted under the auspices of the Wainwright lodge, I.O.O.F., and a large number of members of that body faced the cruel biting wind to escort the remains of their brother from the McLeod undertaking parlors to the last resting place.

The coffin banked with flowers entered the St. Andrew's (Pres.) church between a double file of lodge brethren and a full congregation joined solemnly in the burial service.

Conducted there by Rev. Bro. Roxburgh of Edmonton. At the close of this service the committal service was given by the same preacher, at the graveside in Wainwright cemetery.

As a mark of esteem and respect and also as a tribute to his memory the beautiful Oddfellows' service for the burial of the dead was conducted at the graveside, Past Grand of Edmonton, the members of the Huntington and Montgomery lodges, the ritualistic charges of the ceremony.

Before leaving the remains of their brother in their last resting place, each brother deposited his "evergreen remembrance" on the coffin and assured that their former member-brother had given the passing word into the portals of that fraternal home in the skies prepared by the Brother (and Father) of all men.

Among the floral tributes were: Wreaths from Miss P. Blakenesop, Mr. and Mrs. D. Davidson and R. McLeod, Mr. and Mrs. O. Hannah, B. of T. Mr. H. Dowling and daughter Adelaide, Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F., Wainwright Lodge I.O.O.F., The Section Men C.N.R., C.B.R. of A.C.N.R. and others.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. MacLachlan and family wish to thank their friends and neighbors both in town and country for their great kindness; also Dr. and Mrs. Davidson, the nursing staff of the Wainwright hospital; the members of the Elks lodge, and all others who were so kind during the serious illness of their daughter Jean.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. E. Woodward and Family wish to thank their friends for their kind sympathy and floral tributes in their recent bereavement by the death of a loving husband and father, the late Mr. A. H. Woodward.

PAYING OUT THE PROFITS

Close to twenty-five million dollars in dividend payments will be made to shareholders of Canadian corporations in the early days of January according to a compilation of the securities selling co-dividend at the end of year. This estimate is based upon the declarations for which there are records available and includes most of the stocks listed on the exchanges and others widely held by the public. The month's payments will fall somewhat short of the record distributions in the month of December 1929 but this is due chiefly to the fact that many of the large corporations made their distributions in the final days of the year rather than carry them over into the new year. Numerically the list is large in its payments, spreading over no less than 211 securities representative of industrial corporations, financial institutions, public utilities and mining companies.

FINANCIAL POST NOW PREDICTS POSSIBILITIES

EXPECTS GREATEST PRODUCTION AT FOUR THOUSAND FT. IN OIL FIELD

The Financial Post which is certainly among the best posted of Canada's advisory newspapers and has always followed a conservative policy in its writings, speaks over so less than 211 securities representative of industrial corporations, financial institutions, public utilities and mining companies.

In conversation with several of the most experienced drillers in the Wainwright field the Financial Post has ascertained that the large production of oil is being predicted by the drilling in that field will possibly be found at depths ranging from 3,500 to 4,000 feet.

In the Wainwright field, a rich oil sand is encountered at approximately 2,248 feet from which a few wells are producing anywhere from 15 to 50 barrels per day. However on account of the proximity of this oil strata to the salt water strata immediately below the production of many wells has been cut off by water trouble. Below this salt water strata lies the limestone formation the thickness of which is unknown, the deepest well in the field is that of Admiral Oils being 300 feet in the limestone at a depth of 2,685 feet.

The hope has been expressed by several of the Wainwright drillers that the same strata of oil-bearing sands which has produced such tremendous quantities of oil in various fields in the United States will be found below the limestone.

Geologists point out that the naphtha-laden gas encountered in the Turner Valley must be the self-reliant product of some large body of crude oil located at greater depth perhaps 9,000 feet. It has been impossible to drill to this depth in the Turner Valley on account of the tremendous gas pressure and even in the absence of this gas pressure the cost of drilling to such depths would almost be prohibitive.

In the Wainwright field however the depth of the various strata are much shallower than in the Turner Valley and it is thought that the bottom of the limestone would be reached at not more than 4,000 feet. Providing no prohibitive gas pressure is encountered in the limestone the operations of any company planning to greater depths will be watched with keen interest.

ALBERTA SAVINGS SET NEW RECORD

SALES OF CERTIFICATES BY GOVT REACH NEAR $10,000,000 MARK

EDMONTON—Nearly $10,000,000 in new business was the record of the provincial saving certificates branch for 1929. Certificates were sold during the year to the total of $9,856,466, the largest amount in any one year since the system was started with the exception of 1926 when the sales were slightly over the round-figure mark (withdrawals were) more than usually heavy however and the actual net business was $470,528 the small net surplus since 1927 W. V. Newson deputy treasurer says that the stock market situations did not affect the saving branch appreciably but crop seasonality over the round-figure brought about an increased call for money from farmer depositors and others more or less closely interested in the farming industry.

The Development Of Our Natural Resources

CHARLES STEWART ISSUES A STATEMENT ON YEAR'S ACCOMPLISHMENTS

In his annual resume of the work of his departments as published in "Natural Resources" a monthly publication from Ottawa, The Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of interior, writes as follows:

The Department of the Interior of Mines and of Indian Affairs for the direction of which I am responsible are almost wholly concerned with matters of lands administration, for the mining, water power, northern development and care of native races. Progress in these is fundamental to our national prosperity and a survey of the activities of the three departments shows that there has been a further substantial advance on almost every front over that previously recorded. This advance continued up to the close of the year in spite of the recession in stock market values of the last three months which followed the serious crashes experienced on exchanges all over the world and is the best guarantee that the people of the country could have of the healthy underlying condition of business.

Lands Administration.—First in the list of natural resources stands the vast total area of fertile land. In taking up land for farming purposes man not only shows his faith in the country but by this act and what follows they increase the nation's production and prosperity. The number of homestead entries in the Prairie Provinces is an index to the collective judgment of practical men throughout the Dominion in respect to land values. It is therefore, a matter of importance that, even though the number of homestead entries in 1929 was more than double that in 1927, the movement still continues upward and in the first nine months of 1929 there were 14,622 homestead entries as compared with 11,484 for the same period of 1928.

Mining.—The Department of the Interior, which is responsible for the administration and development of all mineral resources of Dominion lands and the Department of Mines which is in charge of scientific and investigative work calculated to assist the mining and metallurgical industries throughout the Dominion, are working hand-in-hand to promote the widest and most profitable use of the mineral resources of the Dominion.

NEW DEPOT OPENS ON MONDAY NEXT

CEREMONY FITTINGLY CELEBRATED BY BANQUET BY WAIN. BOARD OF TRADE

On Monday evening next, sharp at six o'clock the Board of Trade will fittingly celebrate the opening of the new handsome railway station which has been erected at this point by the Canadian National Railway.

Covers for about 75 persons will be laid and the guests of the Board will be prominent officials of the railroad and following this the several offices and departments are to be transferred from their "box-car homes" where they have been carried on since the destruction of the former premises by fire.

The building is a most handsome structure ranking among the highest type of premises for even much larger towns than this and will indeed prove a valuable acquisition to the town building as well as form an attractive alighting spot for the thousands of travellers who pass through annually.

It is replete with every detail and fully modern in its appointments and everyone connected with its erection is due for commendation upon the completion of this railway station for Wainwright.

Mr. G. C. Siddall, president of the Board of Trade will act as chairman of the gathering, and among the speakers will be Superintendent W. Devenish, Mayor, Mr. John Blue, of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce and others.

In connection with this opening the C.N. Recreation association will hold their first annual dance in the theatre and it is expected that the officials present for the opening will also grace that function with their presence. An augmented orchestra is being arranged for the occasion and splendid supper provided so that all in all Monday next should stand out as another red-letter day in Wainwright history.

er development of our mineral wealth and to increase the output, from our smelters and refineries, of metals produced from ores mined in Canada.

But progress has not been limited to any one section of the country. In all parts of Canada, increased activity has been manifested in mineral development, and conservative official estimates of the total production for 1929 are placed at about $300,000,000 or about 15 percent above the splendid record established this year.

The Alberta petroleum and natural gas resources have now been developed to the point where they are no longer considered of problematical value but are classed among the great wealth producers of the country. The total production of naphtha light crude and heavy crude oils has now reached an annual total of well over 1,000,000 barrels or 105 percent increase over last year.

Forestry.—Our forest industries continue on a high level of activity. A number of steps have been taken in the year to still further promote that progress. The most important of these is the arrangement arrived at by which the provinces and the Dominion will co-operate in the basal work of making a detailed inventory of Canada's forest resources.

The usual severity of the fire season in 1929 has been a practical though costly illustration of the great danger which threatens our forest resources in seasons of high fire hazard.

The value of the production for the group of manufacturing industries using wood and paper as their principal component materials was in round figures $630,000,000 for 1927, the last year for which complete returns are available. This compares with $600,000,000 for 1926 and $507,000,000 for 1925. Nevertheless Canada has sufficient readily accessible forest land to produce in perpetuity several times the present annual cut and to sustain forest products industries of much greater capacity than exist today provided the preventable losses and unnecessary waste referred to are overcome.

Water Power.—Water-power which has given such impetus to our industrial life, has developed to an extent that a few years ago would have been considered phenomenal. The new construction during the year brought the total installed horse-power to 5,727,000 this is an increase of 7 percent for the year.

Tourist Trade Development.—The business created by the influx of tourists which only a few years ago was insignificant has now risen to the proportions of a major industry. The number of tourists entering Canada was larger in 1929 than ever before and the total value of the trade has been conservatively estimated at over $300,000,000.

As previously pointed out this is not the whole benefit which we receive from Canada has so much to offer that every tourist is a probable investor and a possible settler; in any event he becomes a better friend of this (Continued on page four)

BANK OF ENGLAND BREAKS TRADITIONS

INSTITUTION DECIDES TO IDENTIFY ITSELF WITH INDUSTRIAL FINANCING

LONDON.—The Bank of England has broken all its traditions in deciding the identity itself with industrial financing especially that having to do with hire purchase.

Announcement was made Tuesday that it had arranged a subscription of two and a half million dollars new capital for the United Dominion Trust Limited, a financial concern which provides long term credits for British merchants and industrialists and which is specifically interested in hire purchase financing as conducted by great department stores.

The bank's decision to participate directly in financing of industry follows the announcement of J. H. Thomas at Manchester last week to the effect that he had arranged for the granting of large scale loans for reorganizing and re-equipping of industry and that of industry and that the Bank of England was behind him in this.

Hitherto the bank was financially aided only two major organizations, the Lancashire Cotton Corporation and the Engineering business of Armstrong, Whitworth and William Beardmore. Its present departure is unprecedented.

The Road to the Bank

THE road from the farm to the Bank should be well worn: it is a safe road to travel and you will always find a welcome at this end.

Some day you may need assistance from the Bank to buy seed grain or to provide feed for your stock until marketing time. A Savings Account with us now is a good recommendation for future credit.

THE LION'S MOUTH

BY DOUGLAS NEWTON

I had no idea what Mark Ho really was until that night when I heard his whisper through the darkness in the Thatched Roof Hotel, Col's Bay. I was creeping from the bedroom into the sitting room of Gronoveld's suite when the whisper came as sharp and as menacing as the stroke of a sword.

I guessed you were a damn fool, Wally, the whisper said. I hunched, started to move forward softly on my crepe rubbers, my right hand ready to land.

'Remain where you are, my son,' said the whisper. 'Your eighteen inch bludgeon don't help this time. I hold a small gun with a large silencer in my right hand.'

I stopped dead. I knew it was Mark Ho, and a block of ice seemed to have taken the place of the pit of my stomach. Only that morning, in a local shooting booth, I had seen what Mark Ho could do with a revolver. He had shot off the heads of five matches out of six at fifteen paces.

I growled, 'Well, you've got me. What's my cue?' 'Game lad,' he returned.

Somebody felt at the door handle. 'Quick exit here,' he whispered, and I knew he was enjoying himself. 'There is a rope at the window Wally, spin up it and lively. I'll be at your heels.'

There was a rope curving up into the blackness. A thin cord it seemed—too thin for me, I thought and suicide for two. The door heaved against the chair I had wedged against the knob. It was the rope, or jail, I went up like a monkey, my heart in my boots.

It was in my mouth a moment later. Mark Ho, true to his word was climbing, too. There was a forty foot drop under us, and began to wonder what death by the laws of gravity was going to feel like.

There wasn't even a broken limb. There was something in its strands that would have held an elephant. I was in the room above in less than a minute and Mark Ho was but a moment later.

'Light up,' he said, 'and then casually ease into that chair.' He spoke as though we were on the stage—as indeed we were, though not at the moment.

I was across the room like a cat. If I weighed thirteen stone, I moved lightly like a boxer, because well, I was a boxer. The lights flamed on. Even as I dropped into the easy chair Mark Ho had the rope in, had it off the radiator and dropped beside his trunk.

I saw we were in his bedroom and that he was in his bed. He went straight to his washstand and dipped his hands into the soapy water in his basin before I could grasp what it was all about.

His door knob turned. I stared in terror. 'There's a pipe right beside you,' Mark's whisper came. 'Smoke up.'

A key was inserted in the door. At that moment with my first puff of smoke, Mark Ho bawled: 'Come in!'

Our caller—a waiter—tried almost not to, he was so taken aback. He had counted on the room being empty, I thought. He stood gaping, a very thick-set man with a red and weather-beaten face—which was all wrong on a waiter. Mark Ho with streaming eyes, half turned to him.

'What is it?' he asked. The waiter gulped, then said cleverly—you could see by his face he knew he was being clever: 'You rang sir.'

'I didn't,' said Mark. 'The pantry said room 313, sir.' 'Look at the door.'

The number 314 was on the door. It was the sort of mistake any waiter might make. But this one's effort in surprise and apology was a lie. He went out and I mopped my forehead. 'That wasn't a real waiter, Mark,' I mumbled.

'He wasn't even a good busy, was he?' he grinned. 'Busy?' 'Don't you know the language of your calling yet?' he said over the towel. 'Busy—otherwise tee or plain clothes man. And did you ever see a waiter with a sou'wester face? That and his room numbers—a very poor dud.'

'Room numbers—what have they to do with it?' 'His chief, Inspector Gisor, C. I. D., is in the next room 313. That's why it was so apt to his tongue, the ass. 'Inspector—C. I. D., I gasped, they are onto me then?'

'You,' he grinned, pulling on his coat. 'Oh, not you Wally. They're after a bigger bird.'

'A bigger—in this hotel—who?' 'I hate to boast,' he laughed and reached for his hat.

I gasped astonished. The police interested in Mark Ho? Mark Ho, so notorious in crime that the police had gone to the trouble to set a trap for him, I couldn't believe it and then I could. There was that strange rope and that pistol, the whole brilliant plan of my escape down to the pipe ready lit and waiting for me....

All that wasn't habit, experience. There was no doubt of it—Mark Ho was a crook, just as I was a crook.

'We've better be moving along to the theatre, he said with his baffling calm. 'But early,' I said.

'A little, but they'll want to see this 'com.'

'The police?' I shuddered. 'Naturally, I always take every chance to confound them with my resource.' He lit a cigarette in an amber holder. 'You left nothing incriminating in Gronoveld's room?'

'Nothing—except the chair under the doorknob. I didn't have time to move it.'

'No, I saw to that,' he said pleasantly. 'Don't talk until I start it, Wally. Quite a lot of innocent-looking beings in this hotel have microscopic ears.'

Mark Ho went out calmly, rang the bell of the lift calmly. A small, round, effeminate-looking man came out of a room after us, stood by us until the lift came up, joined us in our descent to the vestibule. A pretty flinking man whose neck I could have broken with one hand. I was more offended than surprised when I found him examining me in the panels of the lift.

But as he stepped out of the lift before us I had a jolt. Mark Ho whispered in my ear: 'That is our friend Gisor.'

We walked down to the theatre where, that night, we were playing in 'As You Like It.' Mark Ho as Orlando, I as Charles the Wrestler and anything else I could double up with from Audrey's William to a courier. The Odingale Shakespeare Company we belonged to what was like that.

As we walked, I continued in my state of amazement about Mark Ho. Mark Ho beside me was polished and dapper; the Beau-Bromwell of our company, and easily its best actor. He was, in fact making it apparent with every performance that he was one of the most brilliant juveniles who ever toured. If ever a man was marked down for a lead in London, Mark Ho was the man. He had all the attributes that make for fame—good looks, a beautiful physique, a splendid voice. With all this went great personal charm and culture and an aplomb which in its offhand assurance was perfect. Married too, we all thought—but was he? I myself pretended I had a private income that enabled me to stay at good hotels; perhaps his income was the same kind.

He was the darling of metropolitan audiences in the making. Fame was his almost for the asking and yet he was a crook, a rogue, a thief even as I was.

A baffling, too. He never commented on it. Whether he followed this call from love of excitement or love gain, I never knew. It was just a much a genius as a thief just as he was a genius on the stage without reason or explanation. Halfway to the theatre he stopped and adjusted his tie in front of a window I suppose that told him he was not being shadowed. He began to talk in his imperturbable manner.

'You were after Gronoveld's loose cash, I suppose Wally?'

'Suppose anything you like, I growled, my caution coming back to me now that the excitement had died down.

'Oh well, it was obvious enough. Haven't you learned yet though that yourselves are the most unprofitable victims in the world. They suspect all corners and carry the least possible coinage.'

'I lack your experience no doubt,' I meered. 'And ability,' he said quite calmly. 'You method of business of the commercial traveller's wallet rather badly at Harleigh's two weeks ago. It was a shock. His knowing, it galled my pride too. I said heavily 'Did I. Yet I seem to remember that fellow was robbed of two hundred.'

'He certainly was,' said Mark Ho and even in the street I gaped at him. 'You took it?'

'Naturally. I meant to have it the moment the idiot bragged of his record cash made to a bar full of us. I was almost angry with you for butting in.'

'Only almost?'

'Well, you were helpful. I watched you dodge into his room while the hotel was at dinner useful being an actor forced me to keep queer hours isn't it? I also saw you dodge out with that crestfallen look which you should learn to eliminate. I knew that you had hunted in the regular places and drawn blank I didn't have to waste time on those places when I went in.'

'Where was that wallet, I snarled. 'Inside the rubber sponge bag. It was hanging from a knob on the dress ing table mirror under your nose all the time. A little brain work—'

'Oh, I guess I can hold a candle to a swell mobman like you,' I growled. 'You can't,' he grinned. 'I'm about as good as you make them. Then he said a thing that caused my heart to stand still. 'But you will be useful.'

'We were in the alley by the stage door. We stood and measured each other. 'You mean—I demanded thickly 'The lone hand has its advantages. We should be useful to each other. My intelligence and your muscular development should make a good working syndicate.'

'And no doubt a scapgoat has his uses,' I said. 'He would have had them to-night then, he smiled. 'It would have served my book to let Gisor take you. Gisor who is not at all a fool has noted that the strange string of undetected thefts which have plagued the police for the last few months has followed the trail of the Odingale Shakespeare Company's tour. He is looking for a thief in the company. You would have supplied that want Wally and distracted his attention from me and I'm a fool Mark,' I said. 'You say ed me and took a risk over it too.' 'A little, but that's part of the salt of the game. Gisor is a man worth feeling by the skin of one's teeth at that. I knew that you had fixed on Gronoveld and were going to try to break into Gronoveld's room. I mean to join you. Unfortunately, Gisor's man at the other end of the corridor saw you, too.'

'Saw me?' I said in a panic. 'That means I am done.'

'Oh, no; he didn't see your face. You had your back to him and the corridor was dark. Gisor has me on the horns at the moment.... Well, I guessed what was about to happen. I ran up the stairs at my end of the corridor to my room, and the rest you know.'

'Why did that waiter, Gisor's man come into your room? He was certain you weren't there—were in Gronoveld's room, I suppose.'

'Oh Gisor was working to timetable and leaving nothing to chance. He meant that had to be ready there to catch me with the loot in me in case I got away in Gronoveld's room. He had a net around me; that was why it had to be the rope.'

'And you thought it all out in a flash down to the soapy water and the lighted pipe....'

'I believe in good generalship, he said. I had to have an alibi for you. It was also a chance to fog Gisor. He must have been certain it was me who broke into Gronoveld's room. To

HOW DOES YOUR LABEL READ?

A WILL that can't be broken An EXPERT Executor without cost

A LIFE assurance policy is a will that needs no lawyer to explain and no judge to interpret.

It is clear, final, unbreakable.

If, instead of being paid in a lump sum, the proceeds of your policy are left with the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, you obtain, free of cost, the most expert fiduciary service in the world for your dependants.

Your assurance estate is conserved to meet obligations not fully matured at your death; to care for your wife; and to educate your children.

The earnings and any part of the principal can be paid over at regular designated intervals as desired.

Your modest funds are merged with those of a great corporation and share in the wonderful earnings from that Company's investments.

Your affairs can't be muddled by an incompetent neighbour executor.

NO RISK - NO WORRY - NO EXPENSE

The best way to create an estate, and the best way to conserve an estate, is by life assurance.

Consult a Sun Life representative for particulars.

find it couldn't have been me must start him puzzling. In fact, he is puzzled. That is why he followed us onto the lift. He's asking himself if he is after the wrong fox. His conscience even may be aching at having tried to hook crime onto an innocent lad. "Do you think you can beat a man like Gisor," I asked.

"With you it will be a certainty, Wally."

Then I grinned. "You're a devil," I complimented but I'm on. And look here—what made you fix on me?"

"I discovered that you too were of our exalted profession at Harleight, 'Is that all?'"

"Well, no, I rather admired the way you knocked the block off that brute when he insulted little Miss Gundred Dane."

"I might have knocked your block off in Gronveld's room."

TORONTO, CAN.

While in her gemmy array and the knowledge that Mark Ho meant to pounce her, put my nerve out during the evening.

Somewhat I did not dare go to Mark's room last night leaving the call to him and it was not until after lunch that he called me up. As I went up to his room I saw a boot boy in a baze apron and two waiters on the Gronveld gallery and I knew they were not real waiters and bootboy. Gisor was sitting at a good deal of extra help, I thought.

Mark Ho, resting on his bed laughed when I told him of this. "Gisor thinks I am dead set on Gronveld and mean to try again," he said.

"Surely he won't think you such a fool?"

"He thinks that I think he'll think I won't dare to try it again after one failure—But complex, isn't it? But clever people suffer like that. Anyhow he is pretty certain I will have another stab at Gronveld. Also, I've given up grounds."

"You mean you have acted suspiciously," I said.

"Oh, very. When I returned to my rooms last night I did it in a roundabout way—through Gronveld's corridor. I even paused meditatively beside Gronveld's door. I could almost hear Gisor's watchers gasp. Of course I had no idea they were there; babes and burglars are among the innocent of the earth. Then just as they were about to unsmuggle their handcuffs I moved on. Something disturbed me they supposed. Then, this morning, in my dressing gown, I traversed to my bath via Gronveld's gallery."

"But your bathroom is on this floor Mark."

"Rather bromidic today aren't you Wally? Do I have to explain in detail? Gisor is certain I am after Gronveld. He'll concentrate his force about Gronveld's floor from now on. I shall find the first floor devoid of defence to-night. Mrs. Lobjot-White and her jewels live on the first floor."

"Isn't this deliberately buying trouble?" I asked, prespiring somewhat. "Gisor is actually in this hotel because he suspects you."

"In the very room," Mark smiled. "Purposely he wants to keep me right under his eye."

I made a gesture of hopelessness. "Can't you see then that you are putting your head right into the lions' mouth?"

An incredulous smile, Wally—the lions' mouth wide open and waiting to bite at Gronveld's door. Lions in that attitude can give very little attention to anything behind them. Hence, we will walk into Mrs. Lobjot-White's without attracting attention. Or rather, you will, Wally."

Already magnetized by his cleverness, I listened, and my admiration grew as he unfolded his plan.

"Any amendment before we put it to the vote?" he concluded.

"One," I said after cautious thought. "We get the jewels—what then? Gisor can be guaranteed to go through every room and guest in the hotel with a fine comb to recover them."

"We shall invite the most exacting scrutiny," he said.

"You have got a plan?"

"When haven't I? Now get out and play your part."

Queer—my nerves were shouting excitement but I never felt in better fettle. And that night I never played more like an actor, which was well, for it was Friday night, we were going "Much Ado" and I had a fat part—for me—that of Baracho.

I left the theatre after the others. I had cleaned off my grease paint but left on the beard and moustache that was part of my make-up. I slipped into my shoes a pair of cork-soled slippers that little Barcho occasionally teased me with. As I am exacting anyhow, they made me feel as if I were high and were rather uncomfortable.

I walked to the Thatched Roof without anyone seeing me. I entered by the garden, then proceeding along the big terrace that skirts the restaurant and lounge, both in darkness at this hour. The smoking room had a fair sprinkling of guests in it and I saw that Mark Ho as per plan had actually buttonholed Gisor and was talking to him. How he managed, I don't know, but this exhibition of sheer nerve stimulated me, and I walked on to the lonely garden entrance of the hotel.

I went up to the coat rack, stuffed my soft cloth cap into my pocket. Mark and I had bought new caps only that day without taking off my night overcoat, put on a rough motor overcoat I found hanging there. I slipped on the hairy motor gloves I found in the pocket. I must have looked an enormous and fearsome sight. I covered most of my face by

MONDAY NEXT

NOMINATION DAY

Nomination Day which is set as the first Monday in February, which makes the date this year on the 3rd
on Monday next, and practically nothing has been heard of possible or probable candidates for either Town Council or School Board honors.

Whether this is because everyone is satisfied with the present administration or whether it just signifies lack of interest is not known, although at previous times candidates have been known to appear at the last minute
from out of the blue.

The Returning Officer will await nomination papers from eleven a.m.
till twelve noon and should there be more than the number of candidates necessary to fill the vacancies elections will be held on the Monday following.

Councillors whose terms of office is expiring are Messrs J. H. Clifton, W. J. Huntingford and J. Petrie, while School Trustees who have served their two-year period are Dr. J. G. Middle-mass and Mr. W. E. Washburn.

Mayor M. L. Forsper was re-elected last year for a two-year term of office and therefore has another year to serve.

SPECIAL RATE FOR HOSPITAL

Those residents of the Wainwright Hospital District who do not pay hospital taxes should avail themselves of the opportunity to acquire all the rights of the ratepayer. This can be done by paying before the 1st day of March the sum of $6.00 which entitles one to the special rate of $1.00 per day should that person or his dependants have occasion to use the hospital during the year. The regular hospital charge to non-ratepayers is $3.50 per day.

Ratepayers whose hospital taxes amount to less than $6.00 must if they desire the privilege of the special hospital rate of $1.00 a day pay the difference between $6.00 and their hospital taxes.

This information is conveyed in an advertisement in this issue and an explanation of the plan is given therein.

Residents of the hospital district would be wise to act now and make the necessary payment so that they may obtain the special hospital privileges. It is good insurance and a guard against large expenditure in time of sickness.

SCHOOL BOARD RESOLUTION

At the last meeting of the Vermilion school board a resolution was passed which if it should be accepted by the government and become law would create a most drastic change in the administration of our schools in as far as towns are concerned. The resolution asked for an amendment to our town and country school acts whereby the functions presently discharged by the school board would be carried on by the town council. The resolution points out that by an amendment last year there will be only one levy this year for all purposes;
that is the matter of assessing directly for school or hospital purposes has been done away with. With this being the case the presentation of the board is simply asking the government to go one step further and do away with the board of school trustees all together and have the affairs appar-taining to the schools administered through the town council. It argues that this can be done much the same way as it administers any of its public utilities. The council would appoint a committee on schools and it would function as between the school and the council.

A copy of the resolution mentioned above has been sent to the department of education and it will also be considered at the trustees' convention at Calgary early in February where Mr. H. P. Long was appointed as delegate to attend and move its adoption.

LET US HEAR FROM X

As a new year opens we would like to appeal to every organization in town to elect a "news reporter".
The publisher of this or any other newspaper can only print what news comes to his attention—what we can learn and what others contribute.

Make sure the doings of your organization are correctly reported in the Star both in advance notices and in
"write-ups" after the event is held.
Your reporter does not necessarily have to "write up" the items—we will gladly do this. All we ask is that you detail someone specially to co-operate with us in giving all the news possible from your particular organization.

CONTINUATION OF Development

country than before which means much to every Canadian interest. A pleasing feature of this trade is that it is in its infancy and much of the work carried on for the benefit of Canadians by the Department of the Interior tends to attract tourist. Our national parks which are being constantly improved have now a worldwide reputation and draw yearly increasing throngs of seekers after health and pleasure—sportsmen, holiday-makers, nature lovers and mountain climbers. The setting aside of bird sanctuaries, shooting grounds, and historic sites, and the development of both summer and winter sports has also added to Canada's already great drawing power.

Conclusion—Perhaps the most significant feature of Canadian development in the past year has been its clearly defined northward trend. The majority of the homestead entries have been recorded at Prince Albert, Edmonton, Grande Prairie and Peace River, indicating that settlers are going into the fertile park lands in and north of the Saskatchewan valley and into the Peace River country.

Surveying dispassionately and even critically these broad fields of endeavor it is impossible not to see how great have been the strides and just the advance in the year just closing and how strong are the grounds for a sane and reasoned optimism as to the progress of the Dominion in the year upon which we are now entering.

ATTENTION TO FARMERS

The train load of Oliver Hart-Parr Tractors which we told you about in last weeks ad. arrived in Wainwright last Friday evening. It was one of the prettiest sights that one could imagine to see those one hundred and fifty iron horses all ready to go to work for the farmers of the Peace River district in the Spring. The next train load of these useful beauties will arrive some time early in February and we will get our carload from it.

We would ask you to keep in mind our Tractor School which will be held next month. This will be advertised as well as invitations issued.

Watch for the date and come in for the day.

now. We're not going to beg from you and that is not the reason we want you to attend the Board of Trade.
 It won't be long before you will consider it a privilege to hold a membership card to the Wainwright Board of Trade and it will take a lot more than a $1.00 bill to get it. Wainwright will be near or around the world in 1930 and you'd better get on and join now or you'll miss the chance to belong to the latest organization in town.

Now folks, since the Board of Trade have so much ahead of them this column asks you to attend the annual meeting, elect officers to carry the business and organization for 1930 and support their progress and policies. Among the things the Board of Trade are planning to do this year are: the building of a new hall; the forming of a boys' organization; the building of a new garage approaching the town; the building of all kinds among your work and the get-together spirit of the merchants to improve their service to the district; the breaking down of the barrier of small-mindedness that often creeps into the minds of men; the building of a strong organization whose voice can be heard and whose power can be felt in municipal, provincial and federal affairs affecting our destinies; the getting together of the various social, religious and women's organizations so that harmony shall prevail in all endeavours.

Why leave this work to a few?
 Why place the responsibilities in the hands of men who cannot be responsible? This column asks you all, on behalf of the Wainwright Board of Trade to come out to the annual meeting and elect the men YOU feel can best carry out this work and by doing so you elect men who will end Wainwright in 1930 and the coming years will be a still better burgh.

Yours for a better burgh in this place called Wainwright (and let us work to make it RIGHT)

JOHN L.

P.S. Understand the town fathers are going to break a bottle of spirits on the doorway of the new town hall and treat their fellow townsmen to a FREE champagne and oyster supper. Who said that weren't good fellows? And 'twas decided Friday night by a committee of the Board of Trade to hold their annual meeting some time between February 10th and 20th in the town hall. Come now, people, get out your Sunday-go-to-meetin' clothes and prepare for this event well in advance and be sure you are all there—at the annual Board of Trade meeting.

P.S. Mr and Mrs Wainwright, would you like to have your boy kept busy this spring and summer with other boys in a club sponsored by the Board of Trade? Plans have been suggested whereby a boys' club will be organized and sponsored by that organization which will encourage sports or various kinds for the young sters and suitable equipment for the use will be provided the youngsters of our town. You can help us in this by coming out to the annual and supporting the Board of Trade.

CAMPAIGN FOR
ORAL HEALTH

Through the organization work of Dr. H. L. Cousner, district chairman, a thoroughly representative gathering was present in the Masonic Hall on the afternoon of Saturday January 25th, to hear Dr. Harry S. Thomson, field secretary of the Canadian Dental Hygiene Council who gave a very interesting discourse on oral hygiene, pointing out some very poignant facts relative to the origin and retention of properly functioning teeth and general mouth hygiene.
 This address was listened to with rapid attention throughout, and the benefits of the dominion wide campaign, under the auspices of the Canadian Dental Hygiene Council, fully brought to view by Dr. Thomson.

Arrangements for a further visit by the council's field secretary were placed under way and the date of Thursday February 20th set for the further visit by Dr. Thomson when further lectures will be given at designated hours of the day to meet the requirements of both school children and grownups. Slides and pictures will be presented on this visit during lectures. Literature, supplied by the Dental Council, will be distributed in the meantime to the schoolhouses throughout the district.

The board chosen at Saturday's meeting for further organization work is composed of Mayor Martin L.
 Forster, president, with the following committee, Mrs E. L. Shrover, Rev. F. M. Murphy, Rev. G. R. Tren-
 dell, Rev. N. W. Whitmore, Rev. W. S.
 Brooker, Messrs G. C. Siddall, J.
 Kyle and J. G. Lewis with W. A.
 Knowles as secretary. This organization will carry on the work under the district chairmanship of Dr. Courtier.

The Wainwright Women's Institute
 have kindly offered to provide hall facilities for the general meeting of the Wainwright district to be held on February 20th when it is expected a large number will be present at the various instructive lectures during the day.

THE STAR HAS LEARNED THAT --

BORN—To Mr and Mrs G. Leduc of Greenfield, on January 21st, a boy.

BORN—To Mr and Mrs J. W. Daugherty, on January 22nd, a boy.

BORN—To Mr and Mrs Chas Abernethy, on January 24th, a boy.

Mr G. McEneaney has been enjoying a visit from relatives for the past week in town.

When down town for your shopping drop in and enjoy a cup of hot chocolate at the Standard Pharmacy.

Mr C. C. Phelan, vice-pres. of the Canada Railway News Co., accompanied by Mr A. Wollis, inspector for restaurants of the C.N.R., were visitors to town last week looking over the new station and appointments.

We are glad to know that Mr W. Prosser is now getting some better from a bad attack of quinsy which he suffered last week.

We read awhile ago that President Hoover gave orders to make Washington home dry; we wonder if that is why the White House caught on fire. And now, while we are talking about fires a farmer was burning his straw stack and a rabbit ran out therefrom with his fur alight. It ran under the barn which was also burnt down. There are many other causes of fire but only one sure protection. Get an insurance policy from Joe Welch. That's the very surest protection.

Mrs H. Lepper and baby returned to her home at Turner Valley last week after a visit with her parents Mr and Mrs H. Kemp.

Quite a number of ladies have held afternoons for bridge parties during the past week.

Owing to a little misunderstanding with the machinery, Miss L. Prosser had the misfortune to get two fingers painfully crushed in a job press at the Star Office last week. The injured digits are now doing fine.

Money is tight! But the boy who lost it in Wall Street are all sober! Oh, well, we'll be a long time old! Get a few cans of paint and cheer up the inside of your home. That quick drying paint from the Atlas yard will do the trick and cheaply Phone 57.

Mr and Mrs H. Kemp have left to pay a visit at the home of their daughter Muriel in the Turner Valley for a short stay.

We learn that work is to commence at once on the new four-story addition to the Edmonton city postoffice. The contract has been let to the Poole Construction Co at a cost of $345,000 and will take about fifteen months.

Mr Geo. Harper who has been away on sick leave for quite a long spell from his duties as C.N.R. agent here has now returned to work. His deputy who relieved here during George's absence has now gone to Bruce.

Skirts will be worn longer! We'll say they will unless we get a crop this year! In the meantime keep warm by burning Black Diamond coal from the Atlas yard. Phone 57 for a load.

The teachers of the town schools spent a pleasant evening at bridge on Saturday last as the guests of Mrs D. S. Kyle.

The Rev Mr Roxburgh, of Edmonton who preached at St Andrew's church on Sunday last was the guest of Mrs R. Dunsmore while in town.

Times are hard and money scarce. Would it not be terribly hard to finance a new home in case yours burned? Let us attend to that. Insure with Joe Welch the specialist in insurance.

Waiting until you have only the last few lumps of coal in the bin is a "fateful" mistake at this season of the year. Take home a load of Black Diamond coal from the Atlas yard next time you are in town.

NOTICE

TO ALL ELKS

Election of Officers for the coming year will be held in the Elks Club Rooms, Snyder Block, on the evening of January 30th. A list of the Nominations is posted in Club Rooms for your perusal D. W. DAVISON, Secy.

Mr G. Ruff, formerly in charge of the motor department at the Safeway Store left for Edmonton on Saturday last.

Mary had a little dress.

So neat, so bright, so airy; It never showed a speck of dirt. But showed a lot of Mary!

Yes! Mary's skirt was short, but not any shorter than many would be if their car or their home burnt tonight. Play safe; keep well insured. Joe Welch handles the insurance you need.

While at his work last week Mr Horace Nelson had the misfortune to injure his leg when a case he was handling slipped and fell upon him.

Mrs McClellan and daughter and Mrs Cameron were guests at the home of Mrs R. Dunsmore on Saturday last between trains.

One way to make farming pay is to marry as well! But there are other ways; for instance, get the biggest value for your money by buying Black Diamond coal from the Atlas yard. Ring 57 for real service.

Members of the local branch of the C.B. of R.E. are reminded that their monthly meeting will be held on Tuesday evening next at eight p.m. in the C.O.O.F. hall.

Main St Wainwright

Mr P. D. Laird is away to Chauvillatting his son Jack there

Mr R. N. Trough of the Trough Construction Co., which organization have the contracts for the erection of the new Town Hall and the Wainwright hotel was in town for a few days at the week and looking things over with regard to the successful completion of these jobs.

Owing to the drifting snows, the roads out of town are pretty well impassable just now. However one can get a car as far as the Beaupre farm and north to the Onaito well.

Build with wood for warmth and beauty; your doors and windows will fit tighter. Wood is a non-conductor of cold and frost. Use plenty of paper and "ten-test" insulation and you will save your fuel. Come in and talk over that new home with Joe Welch at the Atlas yard.

A very pleasant time was spent by a number of friends on Thursday last when Mrs W. A. Knowles was hostess at an evening of whist.

We learn that Mr Harry Bouck who suffered an injury to his head about a month ago is progressing nicely now under specialist treatment in the city. His skull is cracked but it is thought that it can be remedied without the patient having to undergo an operation.

Mr C. C. Snowden, manufacturer of oils and greases was here for a few days from Calgary on a visit to the oil wells and refineries.

A fresh car of coal on track at the Atlas coal sheds this week. Keep warm by getting some of this next time you're in town. J. Welch.

Mr Len Horton has returned from a visit to his son Ormond in the city. We are sorry to learn that Mr Charlie Bowen has been under the weather for the past few days.

Mr Gene Tory is at work re-modeling his shop where he will install a first-class service station for British American Oils.

Mr and Mrs Tom Madkins has now returned from their honeymoon and are in residence at their new home on Second avenue.

We understand that the authorities are shipping in oats for the feeding of animals in the service of the National park.

Yes, siree, the weather is cold but you won't mind if you get a load of fresh coal from the Atlas yard. Two cars just in; phone 57.

The members of the Board of Trade are inviting ALL the business men to participate in the big banquet at the opening of the new station on Monday next. Get your ticket at once, so that proper arrangements can be made.

Mr Horace Nelson has now moved a small house on the lot he recently purchased on Second avenue.

So as to facilitate the work of loading at the gravel pit some work is being put in there, during which time the graveling of the streets remains in abeyance for a day or two.

A fresh carload of sawdust will arrive at the Atlas yard early next week. Get a load to protect your ice supply or make your buildings warmer. Phone 57.

The town water system work is going along nicely and the mains will soon be laid as far as the school after which the laterals will be installed.

The metal cornice is being placed on the new Royal Bank premises this week by Frank Fish. It forms quite an attractive addition.

Nurse Anderson who has been staying at the home of Mrs Middlemas having completed her duties in this district has now returned to Edmonton.

Miss Jessie Sutherland entertained a number of her young friends at a party at her home on Monday evening last.

APOLOGY

I hereby retract certain statements derogatory to the character of Mr Ross Valieu made by me at a meeting of the ratepayers of Arm Lake School District on January 10th, 1930. The said statements were made in the heat of the moment and were untrue and I accordingly apologise to Mr Valieu.

Dated this 21st day of January 1930.
